

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

“Leadership is not about titles, positions or flowcharts. It is about one life influencing another.- John C. Maxwell

As we emerge from our shutdown and as new issues develop in the workforce, having a trained team of dedicated leaders is essential. This 8-hour interactive online training is designed for new supervisors and emerging leaders in your company. The training covers 5 key topics areas relative to how to navigate the circumstances of leading a crew on a jobsite.

- Overview of Construction Industry Today: Changing values of workers, new technology, communication, management styles
- Business Organization: Discussion, efficiency on jobsite, problem solving, time management, division of responsibility, authority, responsibility and accountability, policies and procedures, what are the differences? Understanding why it's important
- Qualities of a Leader: Expected behaviors of crew, delegating, team building & growth of team, leadership styles (video)
- Qualities of a Good employee: What makes a good employee? How to improve & measure your performance
- SAFETY AND SAFETY LEADERSHIP: Safety policies and procedures, injury reporting, leadership involvement in safety & why it's important

Mark F. Mangold, COO/VP Gypsum Systems, LLC. On our program:

“I would like to personally thank you for the great experience we had with the ABC online Leadership/Management training we recently completed. Jason's energy and delivery style kept everyone fully engaged and participating. All participants felt they came away with a new perspective and approach to solving jobsite issues. They learned valuable tools and tips for enhancing interpersonal communication skills. All learned valuable time management skills and tips for increasing their own efficiencies. Finally, they all felt they came away with the knowledge to help create a happier and more productive workplace.

Many of us as company leaders spend much time and money training for trade skills. I feel the construction industry is sorely lacking in good managers.”

* If you are interested in scheduling this training for your leaders in your company.

Please contact, Amy Platenik at 585-363-1657 platenik@abcnys.org