

Eli Elisha - A brief preaching bio

My full name is Eli Pius Elisha. I am a Nigerian from Nigeria. My family is from the Gombe state and I am a native of Tangale from Billiri local government area, Nigeria.

I have been preaching since I was a teen of 15 years old as a member of FCS (Fellowship of the Christian Students). I also operated a non-denominational ministry, a para-church indigenous movement, known as “Tangale for Christ Revival Ministry International” for 9 years as the general prayer coordinator since 1998 to 2007.

I am a minister with the Evangelical Church Winning All (ECWA). I studied at Jos ECWA Theological seminary of Nigeria, where I earned my first degree in B.A Missions and Evangelism 2010 and did my M.A in Theological Studies in the same school and graduated in 2014. I am currently doing my M.Div. at the Lancaster Theological Seminary.

I have been in pastoral ministry since 2011. I served as a church planter with the Evangelical Church Wining All (ECWA) in the Plateau State, Nigeria, of West Africa. I have planted two churches and grow it to a congregational level by the grace of God from 2011 to 2018.

I started my calling in expository messages and discipleship. I love teaching and counselling. I served as speaker on T.V program (Plateau Radio Television). My vocational calling is in leadership. I have been privilege to hold a leadership position in ECWA (Evangelical Church Winning All) as the Local Church Council Secretary. I had 22 pastors and 19 congregations under my supervision. More so, I have been discipling young people toward leadership in ministry, and beside this role, I have great interest in missions work. I have a deep desire as a church planter to reach out to the lost soul with the gospel of Jesus Christ and as a result of that, I have travelled to different state in Nigeria for missions work and other African country for short time missions.

I consider prayer as a vital part of my ministry and tool for personal spiritual building. my wife has been my prayer partner in ministry. I have been married to Ladi since 2010 and we are blessed with three children: Miracle, Marvel and Maisha.
