

National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences

SAVE THE DATE

January 14, 2021

2:00 – 3:30 p.m. EST

NIEHS WTP COVID-19 Winter Series

Addressing the Role of the Vaccine in Workplace COVID-19 Prevention: How to Weed through Misinformation, Mistrust, and Improve Worker Protection

It is difficult to weed through all the noise online, in the news, on social media, and in our communities about the impact of the vaccine, especially in the workplace. It is also intimidating to interpret data that is presented and available from federal, state, and local organizations including departments of health, academic institutions, and advocacy groups about what the vaccine will mean.

This webinar will address why the vaccine will not be an immediate answer for preventing exposure to COVID-19 in the workplace and what that means for staying true to the industrial hygiene hierarchy of controls. It will help attendees to sort through information, fears, and mistrust and use it to build safer environments for workers.

English/Spanish interpretation will be available during this webinar.

To register: https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_Z_Dw_xR8SZOU0WL0xrTrXg

SPEAKERS

- Kwesi Ablordeppey, CNA
*Holyoke Soldiers Home,
SEIU*
- Lamont Byrd, MS, CIH,
International Brotherhood of Teamsters
- Alex Isakov, MD, MPH
Emory University School of Medicine
- Faye Tate Williams, RN,
BSN, MA
Duke University Medical Center
- Cameron R. Wolfe, MD,
MBBS (Hons), MPH,
FIDSA
Duke University School of Medicine

