Did you know?

We have a Personal Development Section? I was re-entering this section last week and found some interesting books for your summer reading.

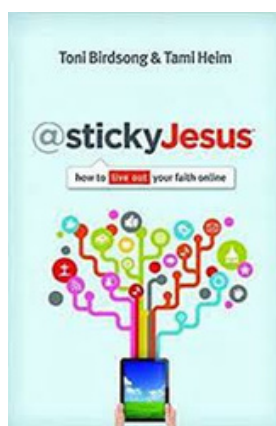

Say Yes to No
by Greg Cootsona

Greg is one of the Presbytery authors we have been telling you about. He states using the power of NO is to create the best in life, work and love.

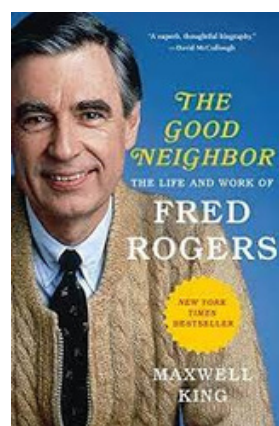

Scarred by Struggle, Transformed
by Hope by Joan D. Chittister

At a time when the vision and values that define us as a nation seem under siege from all directions, the author has given us another perspective on holding fast to hope. Hope is rooted in the past, but it believes in the future.

Sticky Jesus: How to Live Out Your Faith Online
by Toni Birdsong

The authors have combined their unwavering faith in God with their social media skills to create this book. They prove that faith and technology can work together for the greater good. What a concept!

The Good Neighbor: Life and Works of Fred Rogers
by Maxwell King

Fred Rogers was an enormously influential pioneer in the history for almost 40 years. In his neighborhood, he was fiercely devoted to children and to taking their fears, concerns and questions about the world seriously.

A Find to Inform and Bring Humor to Presbyterians

Having some fun depicting John Calvin with designer “shades” indicates that even though theology is serious stuff, we should nonetheless remember that it is not our theology that saves us, but Jesus Christ. Therefore, our life in the church can be buoyant, and our theological wranglings can be done with a sense of humor and love for our neighbor

2. The Top Ten Traits to Look For in a Spouse
3. Family Tree of Christianity
4. What to Bring to a Church Potluck
5. How to Sing a Praise Song
6. How to Survive One Hour in an Un air-conditioned Church
