

November 2022

Dear Friends:

On behalf of Presbyterian Women in the PC(USA), Inc. (PW), we are pleased to announce that the application process is now open for the 67th United Nations Commission on the Status of Women (CSW). The PC(USA) has been engaged with gender justice at the United Nations since the early 1990s. In 2006, PW began mobilizing contingents of women from across the church to participate in CSW as part of a PC(USA) delegation, furthering our shared work for gender justice in the international community. Presbyterian Women received accreditation to the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) in 2018, thus strengthening the partnership between PW and the PC(USA) and enhancing Presbyterian visibility at the UN.

Presbyterian Women will form a delegation to participate in the 67th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women to be held March 6–17, 2023. Participation will be online, with potential for an in-person group. The application form includes a field for indicating interest in joining an in-person delegation (should one form). This letter provides information about the Commission (and the Forum, organized by the NGO Committee on the Status of Women/NY) and how to apply to be part of the Presbyterian Women delegation.

About the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women

As UN Women explains, “The Commission on the Status of Women (CSW) is the principal global intergovernmental body exclusively dedicated to the promotion of gender equality and the empowerment of women.” Each annual session of the Commission focuses on a specific priority theme and a review theme. The focus of the 67th session of the Commission is: “Innovation and technological change, and education in the digital age for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls. The review theme is: “Challenge and opportunities in achieving gender equality and the empowerment of rural women and girls” (from the UN CSW website <https://www.unwomen.org/en/csw/csw67-2023>). During CSW65, more than 25,000 participants from around the world, including UN Member States, UN programs, agencies, and civil society come together to further gender equity for women. The UN invites nongovernmental organizations holding consultative status with ECOSOC to advocate for the inclusion of their organizations’ positions. The Commission publishes agreed conclusions with concrete recommendations for action by governments, intergovernmental bodies and other institutions, civil society actors and other relevant stakeholders, to be implemented at the international, national, regional, and local levels.

About the NGO Forum

In addition to the official meetings of CSW, the NGO Committee on the Status of Women/NY organizes a forum of parallel events that takes place during the Commission. The forum begins with a consultation day and features events sponsored by nongovernmental organizations. The events provide additional opportunities for advocacy, learning, and networking. Normally, the events are held in venues off UN grounds.

About Ecumenical Women

Ecumenical Women is a coalition of approximately 20 Christian organizations representing more than 100 million Christians worldwide. Ecumenical Women believes that the church is a powerful transformative vehicle for the teaching, protection, and enforcement of women’s rights and gender equality when its constituents and leadership are informed and empowered. Presbyterian Women joins Ecumenical Women in transformative advocacy at the United Nations.

Presbyterian Women’s Participation in CSW and the NGO CSW/NY Forum

Through participation, delegates are inspired and equipped to advocate for gender equality and women’s empowerment at the international level, and to transfer what they learn at CSW to local, state, and national levels.

Registered delegates will be able to participate in side events (high-level panel discussions held on UN grounds) and/or parallel events (part of the NGO CSW/NY Forum). Participation will be online, with potential for in-person attendance. All events provide opportunities for advocacy, information exchange, and networking.

Tentative Schedule

Several short trainings via Zoom—between the beginning of February through the beginning of March Presbyterian orientation (mandatory)—Friday, March 3, 2023, time and access TBA.

Ecumenical Women (EW) orientation (mandatory)—Saturday, March 4, 2023, time and access TBA.

NGO CSW/NY Consultation Day (optional)—Sunday, March 5, 2023, time and access TBA.

67th Session of Commission on the Status of Women—minimum participation is Monday, March 6–Friday, March 10, 2023; ideal participation is Monday, March 6–Friday, March 17.

More detailed information on programming and scheduling for all events will follow as it becomes available.

Goals of Participation

- To advocate, guided by PC(USA) General Assembly policy and PW Purpose, with the Commission, with the goal of affecting the agreed conclusions of the Commission
- To learn and use advocacy processes and skills within the UN context
- To work in partnership with people of all ages on women’s empowerment and its link to sustainable development and the elimination and prevention of all forms of violence against women and girls
- To inspire, equip, and connect Presbyterian Women to demonstrate and proclaim God’s justice, peace, and love at the Commission and in their local contexts
- To expand the inclusive and caring community of women and their supporters
- To build and nurture networks with global partners

Expectations of Delegates

Members of the Presbyterian Women delegation represent the PC(USA) and Presbyterian Women. In light of these considerations, the following is expected.

- Attendance: Delegates are expected to attend as many short training sessions as possible, the Presbyterian Women’s delegation orientation and the Ecumenical Women orientation, both held before the Commission starts, and to participate in at least one week of the Commission. Attendance through the second week of the Commission is ideal for the full advocacy experience.
- Preparation: Delegates are expected to have knowledge of issues related to women’s empowerment and innovation and technological change, and education in the digital age; knowledge of the PC(USA) policies on education of women and girls especially as related to technology and STEM; knowledge of the Beijing Platform for Action and the Sustainable Development Goals are key for full participation. Delegates are expected to read preparatory materials, especially the agreed conclusions of the sixty-second session focusing on the challenges and opportunities in achieving gender equality and the empowerment of rural women and girls. <https://www.unwomen.org/en/csw/csw67-2023>), and to participate in preparatory conference calls, videoconferences, and/or webinars. Delegates must have reliable access to email, since much of our communication will occur via email.
- Advocacy, Worship, Education, and Communication: Throughout the Commission there will be opportunities to engage in advocacy efforts, to plan and participate in worship services, to attend and lead educational events, and to share these experiences using social media and other communication tools. Delegates are expected to participate in some manner in all four of these—advocacy, worship, education, and communication—while participating in the Commission and the Forum.
- Participation: Delegates are expected to make the Commission their top priority during the event and to work together to enhance PW’s advocacy efforts.
- Reporting back while participating in the Commission: Delegates are expected to report to the Presbyterian Women’s delegation on the events in which they participated each day. Delegates are encouraged to use social media to share their experiences with a wider audience; assistance will be provided.
- Reporting back after the Commission: Delegates may be asked to write articles after the Commission. All are encouraged to share their experiences at the Commission with the wider church—including, but not limited to, Presbyterian Women groups, their congregation, other congregations, and their mid-council.

- Use of contact information and photographs: Members of the Presbyterian delegation give permission to the programs and ministries of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and Presbyterian Women in the PC(USA), Inc., to use their contact information and photographs within the church.

Application Process

- To apply, please complete the attached application and return it to the PW CSW Planning Team by email to Patricia Longfellow, patricia.longfellow@pcusa.org by December 10, 2022. Space is limited so all applicants may not be accommodated.
- Individuals selected as delegates must have a knowledge of and experience with the issues addressed by the 66th Session of the UN Commission on the Status of Women. In addition, efforts will be made to select a delegation that reflects the diversity of Presbyterian Women including age, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation or gender identity, ordination status, geographical distribution.
- Decisions on participation will be sent out by December 31, 2022. If selected, instructions for confirming your participation will be included in that notification.
- For more information, direct emails to the PW CSW Planning Team at patricia.longfellow@pcusa.org

We look forward to your participation.
