Set in Brooklyn in the 1940's, Potok's classic coming of age tale, about two Jewish Boys, Danny, son of the Hassidic Chief Rabbi, and Reuven, whose father is an ardent advocate for Israel's Statehood. The boys' paths cross on the ball field and a bond of friendship evolves as their lives intertwine and destiny is forged as the story unfolds. This 1981 film is a gem that still resonates with strong messages.
