Coaching and mentoring

Are you or is someone in your company seeking a mentor? Or would you like to learn more about how you can coach and mentor others in your business or industry? MCA has a series of events happening that will allow for both those things. We want our members to have opportunities to build relationships within the mechanical contracting community and meet the individuals that will help build and support your career goals and aspirations.

We started with a coaching and mentoring training seminar that taught participants the difference between mentoring and coaching and the skills and strategies needed to develop people to their full potential.

On December 13th, we have an impressive panel of industry leaders joining us for “bowling with a mentor” in Edmonton to share insight into their careers who made a difference in their lives that led to their success and help them through failures.

We will continue this theme at our annual conference in June where we will “golf with a mentor” and continue to learn from each other. There will also be business session that will focus on why networking is making an impact in business today.
