

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Meryl Moss Media Group

Natalie Garrison | natalie@merylmossmedia.com

| 203.226.0199

“I hardly know of any non-fiction sagas to better exemplify Hungarian Jewish fate of the past 300 years...All that fantastic talent, diligence and readiness to act for and during the birth of modern Hungary.”

—Andras Gyekiczki, Hungarian lawyer, sociologist and family researcher

“Told in lively vignettes, their stories lend rich personal detail to the overarching historical narratives of Jews in the Habsburg Monarchy and Hungary, from successful assimilation to antisemitic persecution. Interwoven with these is another narrative, that of the author’s gradual discovery of her ancestry, hidden by her immigrant parents determined to make a clean break with their past. Ambrus Broenniman’s quest to uncover this history is the ultimate homage to her remarkable family’s legacy.”

—Judith Szapor, author and associate professor, history and classical studies, McGill University

“Readers will marvel in the challenges these people faced and the way Linda Broenniman reveals the essence of their character, as if she was right there speaking with them. Broenniman is a gifted writer who knows how to tell a story.”

—BookTrib

THE POLITZER SAGA

By Linda Ambrus Broenniman

A box found among the ashes of a house fire launches Linda Ambrus Broenniman on a quest to discover the truth behind her family’s biggest secret—that her Catholic father was actually Jewish and his family’s history was a lie.

In THE POLITZER SAGA (Bethesda Communications Group; September 12, 2023) Broenniman tells the story of her search for truth and pieces together the astonishing history of eight generations of her Jewish ancestors – the Politzer family – their remarkable lives almost lost to her father’s secrets.

Dating back to 18th century Hungary, The Politzer Saga is a tale of people who lived, struggled, suffered, and prevailed. Among the family members Broenniman discovers are highly accomplished doctors, entrepreneurs and industrialists, artists and musicians, and art collectors. They are buffeted by events in the world around them: world wars, political uprisings, religious persecution, and unimaginable hardships. The characters come to life with luminescent clarity, making readers forget that they are not the figments of someone's imagination but they were real people who lived real lives.

Today, The Politzer Saga, a permanent exhibition, resides on the third floor of the Rumbach Synagogue in Budapest, Hungary. The exhibit is composed of 10 lyrical and artistically rendered seven-minute films about eight generations of Politzers, based on the stories in the book. But readers can go deeper and discover the source material in Broenniman's amazing narrative.

LINDA AMBRUS BROENNIMAN grew up in Buffalo, NY. She is the middle child of seven born to Hungarian physicians who survived World War II and started their new life in the U.S. in 1949. She graduated from Swarthmore College with a BA in psychology and went on to get an MBA from Carnegie Mellon. Several years after graduation, she left mainstream corporate America to follow her path as an entrepreneur. She let her passion for uncovering hidden potential in unexpected places guide her. And she allowed this passion to fuel the search for her hidden family. Broenniman lives in Great Falls, VA, with her husband of 28 years and their dog, Juno. Visit www.poltizersaga.com.

THE POLITZER SAGA

By Linda Ambrus Broenniman

Bethesda Communications Group; September 12, 2023

258 pages; ISBN: 978-1-736773-7-4

QUESTIONS FOR LINDA AMBRUS BROENNIMAN

1. Having been raised Catholic, how did you feel when you discovered that your father was Jewish and the family history you knew wasn't true?
2. Why did it take you thirty-three years to pursue the secrets and stories of your father's family?
3. When did your family emigrate from Hungary and why?
4. Where in the U.S. did your parents settle and how did their medical education in Europe translate to their new life in Buffalo?
5. Can you talk about your father's time serving in a labor camp in northern Hungary?
6. Tell us about The Pulitzer Exhibit at The Rumbach Synagogue in Budapest and the celebration being held in September '23.
7. Why is the exhibit especially important to your family and particularly your great uncle, Zsigmond Pulitzer?
8. Have you met new relatives from your efforts?
9. Can you talk about the role of Andras Gyekickzki in researching and helping your book come to life?
10. What do you hope to achieve by sharing your family's story in this book?