A LETTER FROM LAURIE

Dear Neighbor:

There's so much happening in the 35th District! From ground breaking legislation to the preservation of African-American cultural icons, Central Brooklyn is vibrant and full of new discoveries.

As we settle into a new school year and start thinking about 2020, I want to thank the community for their constant support. I am committed to keeping Brooklyn a cultural trademark for all to come and enjoy art, music, scholarship, and excellence.

As Brooklyn continues to grow and expand, it is important to me that we continue preserving it's legacy by highlighting women, people of color, members of the LGBTQ+ community, and all groups who play a role in the growth and development of this dynamic district. Let's continue to make Brooklyn the greatest place on earth!

Yours in Partnership,

Laurie F. Cumbo

A TIME FOR HEALING

These past few months have shaken our community and our nation. As we heal from the impacts of gun violence in our neighborhoods and across the U.S., District 35 is committed to coming together and stopping the hate with love and mutual respect.

In August, we joined the community for a prayer vigil commemorating the lives of those lost in Dallas, TX and Dayton, OH earlier this season, as well as the lives lost here in Brooklyn everyday.

September 2019: Community comes together for street co-naming of Melquain Jatelle Anderson Drive.

August 2019: Community comes together in prayer in Prospect Heights and mobilizing to end gun violence in Crown Heights.

What the Leg?

Unity in the Community: #OneCrownHeights, Community Block Party, and More !

September was great month for the community! With the help of many neighborhood sponsors and dear colleagues, we were able to come together and support diversity, inclusion, and family fun throughout the district.

On September 15th, our office partnered with the Brooklyn Children's Museum and the Project C.A.R.E partners for the 4th Annual #OneCrownHeights Neighborhood Festival, helping to promote "unity in the community."

Nearly 28 years after the Crown Heights Riots, this festival was created to bring the Black and Jewish communities of Crown Heights together, and now serves as a cornerstone cultural event for all to enjoy. We had performances from Uncle Moishy, Tropical Fete, the Victory Music and Dance Company, and so many more.

Kids and families enjoyed a day of family fun in Brooklyn's Broer Park and was granted free admission to the Brooklyn Children's Museum all day long!

Crown Heights community comes together for #OneCrownHeights

A week prior, we spent the day outside of our office at 55 Hanson Place joining Assemblyman Walter Mosely and other elected officials for the First Annual Hanson Place Community Block Party. We kicked off the back to school season with book bag giveaways, live music, performers, games, and food!

For the Culture: Betty Carter Park and Randy Weston Way

Brooklyn is home to some of the greatest musicians, writers, entertainers, and cultural producers of our time.

As an advocate of the arts, I am very proud to continue supporting projects that highlight our community's work contributions to arts and culture.

This September, we joined Clinton Hill for the co-naming of "Randy Weston Way," celebrating the life and legacy of jazz pioneer Randy Weston. Dr. Weston who was a lover of all things Brooklyn, touched the hearts of many with his soulful sounds, reminding us of mystical melodies of Africa.

Furthermore, not even two weeks after, I had the honor of celebrating the renaming and ribbon cutting Ceremony of Betty Carter Park. As an African American female jazz icon, Mrs. Carter changed the landscape of Jazz in Brooklyn, and lived right here in the Fort Greene neighborhood for several decades.

Being able to honor the legacies of both Randy Weston and Betty Carter was one of the highlights of this year. I look forward to many more co-namings and dedications celebrating and honoring the legends of our communities!
