A NEW CHAPTER

A MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

As we begin to close the book on another year, the library is entering a new chapter of its own. With a new look and logo, also comes a new website and new opportunity to engage our community. Welcome to the New CCPL!

A rebrand is not simply a new logo or a new website, it is meant to serve as a visual representation of the evolution that the library is making as an organization so we are not only seen as a repository for books, but as a place to find answers and access to unique resources, a valuable community benefit and gathering place, a modern organization, as well as an asset that adds to the quality of life in Charles County.

Our new website provides the perfect opportunity to reinforce these goals. With the new streamlined look and feel, the site is easier to navigate and access information about our programs and services. The new site delivers an upgraded customer experience, while also connecting the Charles County community with another place to find answers. The library strives to fulfill every customer need and be recognized as the trusted source for connecting everyone to endless possibilities. Our goal with the new site was to continue to be that connector while also showcasing all of the other amazing resources the library has to offer, and that we are willing to do what it takes to make sure our community has access.

Our rebrand represents everything a 21st century public library is all about: transformation, connection, access, innovation, and community. Public libraries are no longer just warehouses for books, but also centers of activity, learning, and diverse viewpoints. Our new logo embodies that spirit of movement and engagement our community has come to rely on from its public library. I encourage you to take the opportunity to explore our new website. It was designed with our diverse community and customers in mind so you would be able to learn about the library, our services, as you experience an exceptional level of service while outside of our library doors. Welcome to the New CCPL, come in and take a click around.

November is Native American Heritage Month, when we commemorate and acknowledge everything our Native Americans have contributed throughout the years. With Thanksgiving only a couple weeks away, there is strong meaning behind this beloved holiday and we cannot forget the history the natives that have walked on this land before us created.

The intertribal dance of the opening ceremony of a Native American Pow Wow by Daniel Hughes via <https://www.nellis.af.mil/News/Photos/igphoto/2000092157/>

There are 573 federally recognized nations in the United States alone, but there are thousands of Native American nations that have their own cultures and traditions. One well-known tribe is called the Wampanoag. The Wampanoag (wom-puh-no-ah) Tribe, also known as “People of the First Light”, has been a federally recognized nation since 2007, but has inhabited Massachusetts and Eastern Rhode Island for over 12,000 years.

Their Native traditions, along with many other Native tribes, are deeply rooted with nature and learning how the environment has its own patterns in terms of weather, how the seasons affect plant life and water supply. With this knowledge, they were able to harvest their food and supplies even in the harshest of conditions. They also used what was naturally found in their environment to create their traditional clothing, jewelry, and practical and decorative objects, which is still in practice to this day.

All of this knowledge was helpful when they first interacted with the English colonists in 1620. Although there was probably curiosity and fear from both sides due to their vastly different cultures, each group learned much from one another. The Wampanoags shared their land, food, and environmental knowledge with the colonists to build a respectful, shared community.

The First Thanksgiving in 1621 between the Wampanoags and the English colonists was a celebration of their first autumn harvest. With the help of the Wampanoags’ knowledge of the land, they feasted on local vegetables and fruits together for three days. Deer was presented to the chief Englishmen. Giving items of great importance, such as deer or bison, was a sign of respect and friendship between the two parties. (continues on page 5)

Authentic Native American Artifacts made of various animal hides by Jen Rynda via <https://www.flickr.com/photos/tfmeade/6400497363/>

Unfortunately, their conflicting cultural perspectives grew and caused many conflicts of war that have crumbled Native American communities even to present day. Due to the increase of pollution, overharvesting, and the shrinking of wilderness habitats, Native American nations are not as widespread today. Although this has affected their way of food growth, many Native communities are currently finding ways to revive and continue on the traditional food practices of their ancestors.

There is no one, single Native American culture, and they are always adapting and changing. Their view of the Thanksgiving holiday is built from the relationship between human and nature. To give thanks back to the environment for being able to grow a variety of food is an integral part of their culture. The Charles County Public Library encourages you to think of the Wampanoags and their appreciation of the environment and the gifts it provides as you celebrate this holiday season, and focus on the gifts in your life that you are thankful for.

RECOGNITION TO NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

LA PLATA

Crafts, Conversation and Coffee

11/26 @ 10:30AM • Ages: 18+

Come join us for a fun morning of crafts (bring your own to work on or do a simple craft provided by the library), fun conversation and delicious coffee. The craft for November will be paint by stickers.

Book Folding Club

11/14 @ 6PM • Ages: 18+

We're moving beyond basic book folding and taking this art to new levels. We'll do a new project every session.

Vintage Seasonal Crafternoon

12/27 @ 2PM • All Ages

Come enjoy some crafts from yesteryear! Learn how to create a garland out of popcorn and cranberries, make a sparkly centerpiece for your dinner table and some neat paper snowflakes for your windows!

DID YOU KNOW?

Caregivers have various tasks such as shopping, food preparation, feeding, walking, giving medication, and so much more. We appreciate everything that you do every day!

RECOGNITION TO FAMILY CAREGIVERS MONTH

P.D. BROWN

Sharpie Art

11/29 @ 6PM • Ages: 12-18

Sharpies are more than just markers. Use Sharpies to make tie dye art! Take home the results of your creativity!

Snow Slime S

12/6 @ 6PM • Ages: 9-11

Make slime that looks like snow. Take your slime home and have fun with it.

POTOMAC

Fall Crafternoon

11/1 @ 3PM • All Ages

Come make all kinds of crafts as we use all of our leftover craft supplies! Make monkeys, goldfish, dot art, musical instruments and a lot more! Your imagination is the limit.

Crafty Kids: Macaroni Art

11/14 @ 6PM • Ages: 6-11

We will be making one-of-a-kind works of art using uncooked pasta pieces.

Jazzy Yarns Crochet and Knitting @ Potomac

11/26, 12/10 @ 6PM •

Ages: 9+

We will share basic stitches and techniques to help you begin your crochet and knitting journey. All participants must bring their own yarn and needles.

ARTS & CRAFTS

Art Exploration Programs

POTOMAC

Join us for a day of history and a hands on art project. Attendees will learn about the artist, what made their art so unique, and create their one-of-a-kind art inspired by them.
