Building Well Being: Safe Floors. Stronger Families

Meet "100,000 Floors to Play," a regional initiative making a difference in 12 Latin American countries, including Honduras. Building Well Being is a subset of the larger 100,000 Floors initiative.

The purpose? Improving the lives of families living in highly vulnerable communities through innovative housing solutions.

23% of Hondurans live on dirt floors - that's equal to nearly 3 million people.

Replacing dirt with concrete floors has proven to positively impact health outcomes, mental and physical well-being, and daily quality of life. The project will focus on families experiencing extreme poverty, with a particular emphasis on women-headed households, children, older adults, and families with members who have disabilities.

Our goal is to tithe $750,000, which will build 1,250 concrete floors and impact over 6,000 individuals. Global Village trips to Honduras will be available in 2028! This project is already underway with a $60,000 pledge from Habitat for Humanity Indian River.

Make your tithe today!
