Hearts & Arts for Youth

Sunday Art Adventures to Benefit the Local Community

Youth of all ages through high school are invited to join local artist Bruce Orr for hands-on art projects on select Sunday mornings at UUCGL in Swampscott.

In this exciting new program offering, youth are invited to put compassion into action through creative projects—brightening a stranger's mailbox, making prints for neighbors in need, and crafting art that speaks to what they stand for.

No experience necessary—just bring your creativity! Feel free to bring friends and spread the word to any local youth. These sessions are FREE and all materials will be provided.

Bruce is an art teacher, art therapist, muralist, illustrator, puppeteer, and all-around arts advocate. He is the founder of Inkwell Arts in Peabody.

Upcoming Sessions (10-11am in the Skylight Room at UUCGL):

January 11 – Postal Art: Random Acts of Kindness

January 25 – Prints for People: Printmaking for My Brother's Table

February 8 – Sticker Love: Sticker Making for Valentine's Day

February 22 – Stand Up Puppets & Paper Pop-Ups: What Do You Stand For?

More dates coming in March and April! Questions? Reach out to Chris Scheller (cscheller@uucgl.org) at UUCGL.
