This coloring book belongs to:

National Rural Health Day (NRHD) is a day for both children and adults to celebrate doctors, nurses, and all of the people in your community who work and volunteer to keep you healthy and safe.

On NRHD, draw and color pictures of your doctor or nurse, make a card to share with the hospital in your community, ask your teacher to read a story about how to stay healthy, make up a song or write a poem about how you can celebrate the Power of Rural on November 19, 2020.

You don't have to wait until NRHD to celebrate. You can show someone how important rural health is to you by celebrating all year long. Also, keep making healthy choices every day by eating healthy, exercising, and visiting your doctor for regular check-ups.

You live in a beautiful rural community.
Rural areas are known by their farms,
vegetation, and open spaces.

Do you know that you make your heart
happy when you play
sports? You make it pick up the beat by running and jumping!

When you grow up, you could become a doctor or nurse in your rural community.

When you help your family rake leaves, you are helping your body stay active and healthy.

Vegetables come in all different colors, shapes, and sizes. They contain many vitamins and nutrients that our bodies need.

Family time is special, especially when cooking a healthy meal together.

Brushing your teeth keeps your mouth
healthy and your smile bright!

An ambulance is an emergency vehicle used to bring sick people to the hospital in a hurry. You hear their sirens and see their flashing lights as they quickly drive down the street.

Can you find two of the same pictures?
