24th Sunday in Ordinary Time

We need to get our bearings straight and properly lay life's cornerstone. Otherwise, the rest of our journey will be skewed, and our judgment clouded. We can recall Jesus' famous rebuke of Peter, "You are thinking not as God does, but as human beings do." Even he, as one of Jesus' closest friends struggles with understanding things and grasping the big picture. Pierre Teilhard de Chardin (1881-1955) a renowned and learned French Jesuit priest often has these words attributed to him: "We are not human beings having a spiritual experience. We are spiritual beings having a human experience." Whether they were actually from his lips, they certainly mimic his thought. These wise words orient us and capture the essence of who we really are.

Many people consider spirituality an option. It is no wonder that they come to this conclusion when they predominantly define themselves using human terms and concepts. Immersed in this world view, they struggle finding any semblance of God because God does not work according to human expectations! This is especially true when suffering and death enter life's picture. If we are only human beings having a spiritual experience, then we wrongly expect our spirituality to serve us as we desire. The human expectation is that my spiritual life is something that is useful in avoiding pain, hardship, and death, not something that gives the courage to live through it!

So, when we protest and get upset with God because our journey is becoming difficult, painful, treacherous, disappointing, and even pointing us toward death, Jesus rebukes us as he did Peter and gently reminds us how to see. It is God who inspires and opens hearts to see truth and beauty. In God, the true meaning of things is understood, and we receive a depth of insight and understanding that is not found following purely human paths. It is not our task to understand God, as God is beyond human understanding. Ours is the joyful privilege of simply resting in God's presence simply because God is God and we are who we are. As spiritual beings having an exciting and adventurous human experience, it is in our DNA to do so. Through prayer we can let go and let be. This is how we lose our lives but then save them.

Twenty-Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time 12 September 2021

Isaiah 50:4c-9a. Psalm 116:1-2, 3-4, 5-6, 8-9.
James 2:14-18. Mark 8:27-35.

Deny. Take. Follow. On the long journey to Jerusalem, Jesus clarifies that following the Christ (Peter's response to Who am I?) requires denying self, taking up the cross, and following. Saint James helps make this clear with the need for mercy activity. Reread the Second Reading each day this week.

- Clothe the naked. What will I do?
- Feed the hungry. What will I do?
- Shelter the homeless. What will I do?

Community Interfaith Food Pantry

Both Parishes are a partner in the Food Pantry.

► This week's needed item:

Canned Vegetables

Vegetable Oil

also accepting garden produce

Please leave your items in either church and they will be taken to the pantry. Monetary donations can be placed in the Sunday collections, mark envelope "Food Pantry", & will assist in buying perishables.

Can You Walk the Walk?

I've met and talked with enough people to feel confident that if you polled 100 fallen-away Catholics about why they didn't want anything to do with the Church, the term "accountability" would pop up in almost all of their answers.

And to be fair, a lack of accountability isn't just a Catholic problem. Talking the talk but not walking the walk has been a shortcoming handed down throughout the ages, across all creeds and nationalities.

Loving our neighbor, welcoming the stranger, clothing the naked, feeding the poor — it all sounds fantastic, especially when we're the ones saying it. But the doing — well, that's a different story, isn't it? We would do well to remember that Christ calls one of his best friends "Satan" when Peter tries to convince Jesus to stray from his destiny.

Have you ever been called Satan by one of your good buddies? I'll bet it's not a great feeling. But think about what Peter was doing. He had just said, "You are the Christ." And now, mere moments later, he's saying: "Don't say these things. Don't say you're going to suffer. Don't say you'll be killed."

He was telling Christ to squander what the Lord had given him. He was telling him that having faith was fine, but being faithful? It's just a little too hard. God has a destiny for you, too, and He's asking you to be open to it. Maybe it's not in your comfort zone. Maybe you don't think you can do it.

Lord, give us faith — but help us, also, to do the work.

— Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

Grandparents Day Blessing

God of our ancestors,
we thank you for our children
and our children's children.
They are reminders from you
about how precious life can be.
We humbly ask for wisdom and patience as we take pride and wonder in our grandchildren.
Those of us who now pray to you
also seek your blessing upon these men and women who are our grandparents or who act in place of grandparents.
Bless all the children and their parents and grandparents
with your abundant grace.
We ask all this through the intercession of Saints Joachim and Anne,
parents of the Blessed Virgin Mary,
patron saints of grandparents,
in the power of the Holy Spirit.
Amen.

“God thinking”

You don't want to hear it, let alone believe it. You don't want your plans derailed or face a situation that forces you from your comfortable, safe existence. So you ignore it, sweep it under the rug, or try to minimize the problem with assurances that it's nothing. Everything will be fine.

That's how humans think.

But if you “think like God,” your concern shifts immediately to how others are affected by this situation that you want nothing to do with.

Your teenage son or daughter has been eerily quiet for some time. They're moodier than usual; they've disengaged from everything — and everyone. Typical teenage angst, you sigh. Snap out of it! Grow up! you want to shout.

That's how humans think.

But if you “think like God,” you patiently sit down and ask if everything is all right — and then you listen with empathy, without judging or criticizing.

A dear friend has just gotten terrible news. You never know what to say or do, afraid you'll say the wrong thing and make matters worse. Hey, I'm not a counselor or doctor or priest, you plead. That's how humans think.

But if you “think like God,” you get over your trepidation, you call or write your friend expressing your support and offering to bring over dinner or take their dog out for its walk or some simple task that might ease their burden if only a little.

Those things happen to other families — but not ours. Other people get sick — but not me. Lots of couples go through difficult times — but we're solid. Yeah, these are hard economic times — but we're smart with our money.

That's how humans think.

But if you “think like God,” you realize that if we've learned anything these past few months it's every family — even families like yours — can get into trouble through no fault of their own, that we all need to put aside the comfort of denial and the self-righteousness of judgment to help — in a spirit of gratitude and grace.

Most of us understand all too well where Peter is coming from in today's Gospel: Keep things upbeat and positive; don't dwell on the negative; stop whining; pick yourself up and move on. That's how humans think, Jesus says. But to “think like God” is to realize that denying or diminishing such difficulties and stress can be devastating in the end, that resurrection is only possible through taking up our own crosses in Jesus' spirit of charity and mercy. In our brokenness, we discover the things of God: humility that heals, empathy that mends, generosity that lifts up the fallen and broken. Christ challenges the “Peter” attitude in us all: not to deny the reality of the crosses in one another's lives but to embrace those crosses with the certain hope that, in the spirit of Christ the Servant, they can be the means of Easter re-creation.
