

Your Partner in Continuing Medical Education (CME)

MedChi, The Maryland State Medical Society, is committed to the health and well-being of Maryland's citizens through advocacy, education, and the representation of Maryland physicians. With a legacy of excellence and a deep understanding of the medical field, MedChi is uniquely positioned to collaborate with organizations to deliver high-quality CME.

Spotlight on CME Excellence: Pennsylvania Medical Society and MedChi Host Collaborative CME Workshop

Last week the PA Med Society and MedChi co-hosted a Continuing Medical Education (CME) workshop in Harrisburg, PA welcoming more than 40 CME professionals which included many of MedChi's accredited providers.

This was not your typical workshop where attendees snuck out early or dozed off after lunch. Instead, attendees engaged in interactive activities focused on effective CME activity planning and strategies for maintaining compliance with the ACCME's Core Criteria, Policies, and Standards.

Workshop Highlights:

Designed to help attendees apply CME terminology and reinforce reaccreditation requirements in a fun and interactive format, participants enthusiastically engaged in activities such as CME Bingo and Jeopardy.

Led by Lorna Della, MedChi's Accreditation Coordinator, another workshop activity utilized a "reverse engineering" format where the participants were tasked with designing a CME activity leading to a specific, desired outcome for the learners.

The workshop underscored both organizations' commitment to promoting excellence in medical education and fostering a culture of continuous improvement. Plans are underway to make the collaborative workshop with PAMED, an annual traditional with MedChi potentially hosting next year.

Thank you for supporting our professional growth and commitment to continuous learning!

Partnering with MedChi gives your organization access to our extensive network of healthcare professionals. Whether it's live events, online courses, or enduring materials, MedChi can help you deliver impactful education.
