Come and join in the dialog!

September & October 2016 Films:

September 20th

Dream On

On an epic road trip, comedian John Fugelsang retraces the journey of Alexis de Tocqueville. Along the way he explores whether Tocqueville's optimistic spirit of the American Dream is alive and well in the twenty-first century or whether George Carlin was right when he famously said, 'It's called the American Dream because you have to be asleep to believe it.'

Watch for the rest of the 2016-17 schedule
to be announced as the films are procured!

October 18th

The Ten Commandments to Avoid Extinction

Michael Dowd is a minister, author and eco-theologian who is known as an advocate of Big History, naturalism, sustainability, climate activism and the epic of evolution.

Hear his revised take on the Ten Commandments that reflect the reality of today. He maintains a Christian perspective while accepting the theory of evolution.

Come meet Michael Dowd -
