

MEET TRINITY'S NEWEST MEMBERS

Amie Chantos (pictured above): Amie is married to Christopher, and they have two children: Logan, who attends Trinity's 4-year-old preschool program, and Maddie, who is 2-years-old. Amie and her family live in Davenport and enjoy baseball, basketball and football. Amie is a legal assistant, while Christopher is an engineer. Amie and her family learned about Trinity through its preschool program. The Chantos family normally attends the 10:45 a.m. service on Sunday.

Tom Jackson: Tom is married to Young Jackson, and they have one child – Rebecca, who attended Trinity School in the early 1990s. Tom, who is retired from the Army, enjoys restoring World War II vehicles. Tom credits his wife, Young, who he says is a good spiritual motivator, for leading him to Trinity. Tom normally attends Trinity's 10:45 a.m. service on Sunday.

Matt Hussong: Matt is married to Andrea, who is a first-grade teacher at Trinity. Matt, who is a driver for Domino's, enjoys reading, creating art and spending time outside biking. Through Andrea, Matt has developed many friendships with current Trinity members. He enjoys listening to the pastors preach and being in worship, with the friendly people of Trinity. Matt normally attends the 10:45 a.m. service, where he occasionally operates the sound system.
