

“But, God ...”

I grew up looking forward to summer. Summers meant warm weather, beach vacations and playing tennis outdoors.

Why does this summer seem different? Maybe because it's hard to look forward to the next two months when it seems like the world is sliding into chaos. I don't have to list it for you, but here are some of the things causing anxiety: soaring gas prices, record inflation, rising grocery bills, active shooters in schools, churches and grocery stores, an on-going war in Ukraine, continued racial unrest, constant threat of natural disasters and a seemingly never-ending pandemic. The recent Supreme Court decisions will lead to even more divisiveness and potential violence throughout our country. Sometimes I feel like I'm just one terrorist attack from a mental breakdown.

It's enough for any good Christian to wonder, “Does God care about all our suffering?”

In the best-selling book “When Bad Things Happen to Good People” by Rabbi Harold Kushner, the author wrestled with one of the most difficult questions in all theology. The question is how can God be both all-powerful and all-good. If he is a loving and good god and has the power to do whatever He wants, then He would put an end to the suffering. Right?

Some people argue that the presence of evil in our world means that God must either be all-good OR all-powerful, but He can't be both. However, this is a false choice.

Yes, there is evil in the world. We've been living in a fallen world since Genesis. The whole world is reeling because human beings have been rebelling against God. And God's answer to the problem was sending His Son Jesus. God is both all-good and all-powerful and the mystery of how that works is found in Jesus. On the cross, Jesus doesn't necessarily provide a theological answer, He simply bears the price of our sin.

So, what does this mean for our complicated world this summer? How do we find peace in the midst of the storm? This season, allow me to suggest two words: “But, God...” (OK, look, it's not “butt god,” so get your snickering out of your system now and read on.)

I've noticed that often in scripture when people find themselves in impossible situations that you'll find those two words “But, God...” providing a path to hope and unlimited possibilities.

For example, Asaph writes in Psalm 73: 26, “My health may fail, and my spirit may grow weak, but God remains the strength of my heart; he is mine forever.”

Or how about when Paul tells us about his friend and co-worker Epaphroditus? Philippians 2: 27 says, “And he certainly was ill; in fact, he almost died. But God had mercy on him—and also on me, so that I would not have one sorrow after another.”

Paul uses his own story as a testimony to the grace of God when he writes his first letter to Timothy. “...even though I used to blaspheme the name of Christ. In my insolence, I persecuted his people. But God had mercy on me because I did it in ignorance and unbelief.” (1 Timothy 1: 13)

There are dozens of examples in the Bible. Now that you know to look out for those two words, you'll probably find some yourself. Of course, there's no greater example of God prevailing over seemingly impossible situations than when Jesus was crucified and all seemed lost. Did the Bible use those two words to describe the hope that followed the crucifixion? It sure did: “They put him to death by hanging him on a cross, but God raised him to life on the third day.” (Acts 10: 39b-40a)

When people find themselves in impossible situations you'll find two words providing a path to hope.

This summer when the worries of this life threaten to discourage and depress you, imagine those two helpful words and the hope that follows. Together in prayer, you and God can complete the sentence.

Gas is expensive, but God...

The war rages on, but God...

Divisiveness reigns, but God...

I believe God will act to make all things work for good to those who love him and are called according to His purpose. (Romans 8: 28)

Our job is to continue to love God, love others and serve Jesus. As we make disciples for the transformation of the world, God will honor our efforts and bless it. How do I know? In 1 Corinthians 3: 6 Paul says, “I planted the seed, Apollos watered it, but God has been making it grow.”

In Him,

- ✠ The family and friends of James Barringer, Jr who died on May 30, 2022
- ✠ The family and friends of William B. Edwards, who died in Bradenton Florida on June 1, 2022.

Special note for our homebound folks ...

and those unable to come to our in-person services, who do watch our Traditional Worship Services (TV or online)
If the above sentence describes you (and you live in the area) - please read on.

As you know, we've been able to have the words to our hymns and some liturgy shown during the services since the pandemic started. UM churches had received special permissions from the United Methodist Publishing House to do this. Sadly those permissions have now ended—so the hymn text can't easily be shown starting in July.
As a solution for our folks who do watch our services from home (TV or online) - we have ordered and received some new hymnals for folks to borrow.

So, our question to you... if you are watching our services and live in the area—would you like to borrow a hymnal (for as long as you desire)? Please call the church office (585-265-9720), to let Faith know that you'd like to receive a hymnal.

Our Military Personnel

....please keep them in your prayers

PFC Maclain Andrews (USA, reserves), Peter Freunds Schuh (USMC); SFC Scott Humphrey (ARNG); Cpl Aaron Kahler (USMC); SSGT Casey Weldon (USAF).

[Names in bold—these service people are currently deployed in the Middle East or another war area and need our special prayers]

Youth & Family Ministry / Worship Services

How Do We Help Change the Tendency to Violence?

We have all been rocked by the increasing number of mass shootings. As a mother of school-aged teens, I am especially concerned over the instances of school shootings targeted at and committed by young people. There have been far too many days that I've been tempted to keep my children home, as if keeping them under lock and key and under my sole supervision would somehow be safer and healthier than allowing them to live their lives in freedom. As a citizen, demanding to live in a world where it is safe to send my children to school, I am tempted to give up those freedoms in exchange for the false promise of safety. As a Christian, overwhelmed by the darkness and sadness of this world, I am tempted to shake my head and believe that these types of killings happen because we live in a fallen world and this is the presence of evil.

There is a demand to understand the motives of a person who would so selfishly take the lives of others. And, far too often, that demand goes unanswered. While the exact motive may not ever be known, some experts believe that they have identified a profile for the type of person that would enter a school with the intent to kill children and themselves. Jillian Peterson, an associate professor of criminology at Hamline University, and James Densley, a professor of criminal justice at Metro State University, constructed a database of every mass shooter since 1966 who shot and killed four or more people in a public place; and every shooting incident at schools, workplaces and places of worship since 1999. Their findings, also published in the 2021 book, The Violence Project: How to Stop a Mass Shooting Epidemic, reveal striking commonalities among the perpetrators of mass shootings. They discovered that in most cases, early childhood trauma was the foundation. This was evident in many forms, whether it was violence in the home, sexual assault, parental suicides, or extreme bullying. Without treatment, the childhood trauma led to feelings of despair and hopelessness, and left unchecked, those feelings could lead to a dramatic behavioral change and violent actions. Sometimes there were previous suicide attempts, but the self-hate that often leads to suicide was eventually turned outward. The individual began looking for someone else to blame for their feelings - sometimes it was a school, or a racial, ethnic, or peer group.

The FBI rejects the notion that a profile can be created to accurately identify individuals before they become mass shooters, but the Critical Incident Response Group for the National Center for the Analysis of Violent Crime has issued a four-pronged assessment approach. It involves assessing a student's personality, family dynamics, school dynamics, and social dynamics. While this process would be most helpful if it was implemented proactively, it is unfortunately often done after the crime has been committed.

If our government, law enforcement, laws, and schools cannot keep our kids safe from senseless mass killings, if our top researchers cannot agree on a profile; or whether one even exists, and if assessments are completed after a crime and not proactively to prevent a crime, how will this rise in extreme violence in young people ever be stopped? The problem seems complex and overwhelming. But, the solution may not be.

As followers of Christ, we have been given the answer in the design for family and church. God has given instructions for how to live within His will; how husbands and wives should interact and love each other, and how children should be raised. God has created His church to worship and glorify Him; to support and nurture believers, and to care for and reach the lost. And, not surprisingly, God's design is supported by the FBI's own risk assessment for the prevention of mass shooters. Children who are raised in stable, healthy homes and who have developed resiliency tend to lead healthier more stable lives. Strong communities, healthy faith, and social connections are vital to developing resiliency. When people feel and know that they are loved, experience hope, and are connected in the body of the church they are far less likely to spiral out of control. And, when struggles do occur (none of us are immune!), we have a support system to identify illness and aid in healing.

We can make significant changes in our communities, but the work starts at home. We cannot continue to blame lawmakers, lack of security, or evil without taking responsibility for our own actions. Honor the Lord's rhythms of grace by eating meals with your family, attending worship together, serving in your community, and finding time for rest. Resist a chaotic and busy lifestyle, take time to notice others around you, and be welcoming to your neighbor. Love your spouse and encourage your children. Love God, Love Others, Serve Jesus. If we commit to truly doing these three things we will not only change the trajectory of our families and communities, but we will witness the Kingdom of God.

Wendy McVeigh

Many Thanks...

We give thanks and best wishes to our church nursery care-giver, Molly Anglum. Molly staffed our church nursery for both services since October 2021. She is leaving to pursue a full time opportunity. We will all miss her sunny character and loving care of our kids! Thank you Molly!

NOTICE: *CHURCH NURSERY — SUMMERTIME

During July and August we invite parents/ grand-parents with small children that need a break from being in the services— to use our crying/overflow rooms. Adults may bring and stay with their small children to either: the Garden room, during the 9:00 AM services; or the youth room during the 10:30 AM services.

Both locations have a small tote with some toys/books to offer a distraction for the kids. There will be a container of disinfecting wipes for adults to use on the toys after kids have played with them.

*During July and August we are unable to offer childcare in our church nursery.

New Beginnings!

A couple of months back, I was asked to assist with moving a family out of an apartment and into temporary housing due to an eviction. During this experience, my eyes were opened to an increasing problem of homelessness and food insecurity in our community. I have shared my concerns with our Faith-in-Action Team, the Council of Churches, Hope House, and the Webster Community Chest. The response to the needs of our neighbors has been humbling.

Together, we are working on creating a community survey to assess the needs of our most vulnerable neighbors. A village church is working toward reopening an apartment for the purpose of offering temporary shelter to families facing housing insecurity. The Webster Community Chest is exploring options to re-open the Food Pantry under a new (and very unique!) model. Hope House has become its own 501c3 and will be expanding its services. And, our church will begin a Community Dinner ministry on July 23, 2022 (4:30 pm to 6:00 PM).

Through conversations with key community organizations it has become clear that people are longing for a sense of community; to belong and to be integrated within the fabric of their neighborhood. In response to that need, we will begin hosting monthly community dinners in our Fellowship Center on the 3rd or 4th Saturday of the month.

These dinners are going to be family oriented, served with excellence, and focused on community integration. We will offer a nutritious meal, family programming, access to community resources, and the blessing of fellowship. We will be specifically targeting neighborhoods within walking distance of our church, but will also be intentionally inviting key members or our community to come and dine, such as police and firemen, teachers, small business owners, and political leaders. We hope that many members of our congregation will attend also!

Since the focus of the event is on community integration and building, there will be no cost attached to the dinner. If those attending are able to make a donation toward the cost of their meal, it will be appreciated, but not expected. There will also be the opportunity to donate non-perishable food items or hygiene items to the food cupboard.

Many volunteers are needed to launch this new ministry. We need people to help set up and clean, shop, prepare food, create programming, send invitations, and help with community outreach. Please pray about how you might best serve your neighbor, and then contact me! I'd love to tell you more!

Wendy McVeigh (Director of Family Ministries, 585-309-6510)

Looking for more ways to connect?...

We always have great ways to begin connecting within the church; some requiring just small time commitments!

Please contact the church office to connect into a ministry!

Ways to connect on Sundays:

1. Ushers—you can volunteer for either service; on a rotating basis.
2. Greeters—there's nothing like getting a friendly greeting as you walk into church. If you're a friendly person, we'd love to talk with you about being a greeter.
3. 9AM Coffee Hour hosts—we'd love to re-start having 9 am coffee hour—but need a minimum of 8 persons (2 per Sunday) , but preferably 10, to start a new team of hosts. So far, we have 2 people signed up to be hosts.
4. 10:30 AM Coffee Baristas— this service has an ongoing coffee service (our baristas), but we could use a few more volunteers on Sundays. No, you don't have to be a 'real' barista. We provide the simple training necessary.
5. Media—both services: we could really use more people to either input the information into the slides for services; and/or people to run the slides during the services. ALL training is provided—you don't have to be a computer whiz to do these tasks. Older youth ARE welcome as well as all other folks.
6. Sound — both services, for Sunday services, as well as for funerals. Again, all training is provided.
7. Funeral receptions—servers and "cookie bakers", please contact either the church office or Bobbi Olson.

Buildings and Grounds Team...

is asking for helpers for their monthly work days at church. They usually meet and work at the church on the 3rd Saturday of each month (but please check the online calendar first). Each month there will be a task list—usually a variety of things that need to be accomplished.

There is always something for someone to do, either skilled repairs or something as simple as dusting in a variety of areas, or polishing the pews/ woodwork.

☼ Yes, you can simply show up, although it would be helpful to know that you are coming (it's easier to plan the work that will get done).

Flowers for the Altar

A special way to remember or honor loved ones, or special people in your life!

or more orders for flowers to be in the sanctuary for a particular Sunday—your choice (except Easter & Christmas). A regular flower arrangement is $45, although you can pay more for larger arrangements.
Our beautiful arrangements are created by Kittelberger's Florist. To order — email church office or use the flower book by the prayer box, in Heritage Hall, outside the sanctuary.
