Our featured speaker:

The Rev. Lisa Greenwood

Vice-President for Leadership Ministry of TMF
(the Texas Methodist Foundation), Dallas, Texas

This one-day event will stimulate reflections on the changing landscape of our mission field—both its challenges and opportunities—and invite us into conversations about the implications for our church leaders and ministries. Congregations are encouraged to send teams to learn, strategize and prepare to grow together.

Ever feel like your church's models of ministry just aren't working anymore? Has your landscape changed, but your outlook and methods have not? Has your evangelism become salt that's lost its flavor?

We are compelled to share Christ's good news of love and grace, justice and hope. What does that call mean for us as leaders and for the churches we serve?

Lisa Greenwood works with church leaders across the UMC connection to help them understand and foster “deep change” by facilitating purposeful conversations of courage, learning, generosity and innovation. She brings wisdom and experience from serving suburban, urban and rural churches as a pastor in the North Texas Annual Conference for 20 years. She also has served on the Board of Ordained Ministry, four General Conference delegations (2004-2019), and as ministry strategist for the Horizons Stewardship Company.
