

Janna Gosselin Bio

Janna has been a member at LCPC since 2009. She and her husband, Craig, have been married for 31 years and have 2 grown sons.

Janna's LCPC activities include:

- For six summers, Janna has conducted a well-attended six-part lecture series on the Christian mystics
- Co-led Faith & Doubt program
- Trained Lay Counselor
- Nametag Committee for 3 years

After graduating from the Gould School of Law at USC and maintaining a successful career practicing law, Janna Gosselin experienced a spiritual awakening which propelled her to seminary and doctoral studies. Janna completed a Master's of Arts in Theology at Fuller Theological Seminary. Janna also completed a doctorate at USC in English, working with faculty in the School of Religion and writing her dissertation on Julian of Norwich, the now famous English Christian mystic. Responding to her call to teach, Janna currently serves as Academic Advisor (Dean) and Professor of Christian Spirituality at the New Theological Seminary of the West. Janna also acts as a group facilitator for the Shift Network in the Global Mystics Certification Course and as Co-Vice President of the Academy for Judaic, Christian and Islamic Studies. She has also served as adjunct faculty at Fuller Theological Seminary, a teacher in the School of Religion at USC and a guest lecturer at Loyola Marymount University and at USC. Janna has spoken regularly at academic conferences and has co-written a chapter in the book, Protestant Spirituality, Volume II. Janna is currently working on a book on Julian of Norwich.
