ESY (Extended School Year): Come Learn About Your Options

Please join us for an informal presentation and conversation with Dennis McAndrews, on the topic of ESY.

ESY services, are provided by School Districts over school holidays (generally the summer months) to eligible students with disabilities in order to prevent severe regression. Some parents turn down a School District offer of ESY services, though, because they disagree with the format of services offered. Many parents incorrectly believe that their only option is the one presented to them.

Dennis C. McAndrews is the founder and Managing Partner of McAndrews Law Offices, P.C. Mr. McAndrews regularly represents families and individuals in a variety of areas, including special education matters, estate planning, estate administration, special needs trusts, guardianship, estate planning, right-to-treatment cases and abuse cases. He has developed a national reputation in Estate Planning, Estate Administration and representation of persons with special needs. He served as Executive Director and Staff Counsel to two select committees of the Pennsylvania State Senate which evaluated Pennsylvania's system of care for persons with disabilities and drafted proposed legislation designed to modernize Pennsylvania's legal basis for the provision of care to the intellectually disabled.

Mr. McAndrews is an instructor of Civil Rights and Civil Liberties and Criminal Justice at Villanova University. He served for a decade as Chairman of the Disability Law Committee of the Delaware County Bar Association
