

Friday, April 3 at 10 a.m.

Jobsites across Nevada will pause for a COVID-19 Safety Stand Down

Join in this unified, statewide effort to help educate our work crews about the critical role safety and health plays during this global crisis.

Together, we can help flatten the curve and keep our teams safe.

As an industry, we have an obligation on our jobsites to ensure every individual understands the policies and procedures to keep us safe during the COVID-19 crisis.

Please join us for a statewide Safety Stand Down on Friday, April 3, 2020 at 10 a.m. to drive home the importance of this issue (To comply with social distancing requirements, you may need to conduct more than one meeting with rotating audiences of 10 or fewer). We encourage you to use this template COVID-19 Action Plan and health assessment form to distribute to field operations and management within your offices. Additionally, you are encouraged to use this Toolbox Talk to aid in your discussions.

We are proud that this effort extends throughout the state and outside of just our association. Many of our labor and industry partners have joined in this effort and will be communicating with their audiences.

Click here for a payroll stuffer in English and Spanish. We encourage you to include this with every payroll check so that every employee understands the importance of following these mandates.

Per Governor Sisolak's Directive 010 to extend the stay-at-home order through April 30, we have provided a letter to make available to your employees stating they are "essential employees".

As with any new policy, we encourage you to review this with your management team and legal counsel.

For any questions or concerns regarding this effort, please contact Ann Barnett