Homily

Profession Of Faith (Nicene Creed)

I believe in one God, the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible. I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Only Begotten Son of God, born of the Father before all ages. God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father; through him all things were made. For us men and for our salvation, he came down from heaven, (all bow) and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, and became man. For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures. He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end. I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets. I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church. I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

The Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

DISCIPLESHIP'S COSTS. In today's first reading, God tells the prophet Elijah to prepare Elisha to succeed him. Succeeding Elijah will be no easy task; he has spent his life facing threats from the kings he has confronted about their infidelity to the God of Israel. The psalm illustrates the emotional and spiritual distress that the prophets' steadfast faithfulness to God brought them. Paul's description of the Christian's freedom from the law as opposed to "the desire of the flesh" puts this struggle at the very heart of Christian identity. The reading from Luke's Gospel recounts Jesus' decision to journey toward Jerusalem, where he knows he will meet his earthly fate. Following Jesus—like succeeding Elijah as prophet—will now become more difficult. Unlike his calls to the first disciples, Jesus encounters those who are not ready or are not strong enough to journey with him.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes to Ed Aufuldish and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, on the passing of beloved wife and mother, Martha Fifer Aufuldish, after a courage battle. A Mass of Christian Burial was held on June 25, 2022. There will be a private burial at a later date. Our thoughts and prayers are with the family and their loved ones.

Anointing of the sick

"Is anyone among you sick? They should summon the presbyters of the church, to pray over them and anoint them with oil in the name of the Lord, and the prayer of faith will save the sick person and the Lord will raise them up. If they have committed any sins, they will be forgiven." (James 5:14)

In the sacrament we pray that the sick be healed in body, in mind and in spirit. The mission of the Church is to do what Jesus did. Healing was essential to the mission of the disciples. If you are experiencing the effects of illness, advanced age, preparing for surgery and seek the healing power of the sacrament you are encouraged to ask Father Dennis to celebrate the Anointing of the Sick with you. You or a family member can contact the parish office at 803.345.3962 or call Father's cell phone at 843.834.5447.

COLUMN SUBMITTED BY STEWARDSHIP COUNCIL

When we hear of a friend in need, sometimes the first thoughts to pop into our brains are excuses for why we can't help. We might think we're too busy, money is too tight, or that we can't really do anything because our friend lives in another city or state. These concerns might be perfectly valid, and they could certainly rule out a few ideas for how to get involved. For example, if you're too busy, it might be hard to volunteer your time for hands-on help. If money is tight, it could be difficult to make a donation. And if you live far away, it would be tough to drop by and encourage your friend in-person. But if God has given us the gift of creativity, and if He's called us to love our neighbors, is it possible we should be putting the two together? What would happen if we stopped thinking about all the reasons why we can't help in certain ways, and instead pursued creative solutions for how we can make a difference?

Here's an example. Let's imagine your friend has a new baby. Normally, you'd take over a meal, but this friend recently moved across the country. How could you help in spite of the distance? Here are a few creative ideas that are surprisingly practical!

1. Have dinner delivered. Food delivery services make it easy for you to send a far-away friend a hot meal. Uber Eats is a popular example. When you go to ubereats.com and type in your friend's address, you can see what restaurants are available in their area. Then, if you decide to place an order, an Uber Eats delivery driver will go pick up the food from the restaurant and deliver it to the address you enter. If UberEats isn't available near your friend's house, Grubhub and DoorDash are popular alternatives you can try. FoodDeliveryGuru.com has coupons and promo codes for many of these companies.
2. Send groceries through Instacart. Instacart is similar to food delivery services, only instead of delivering restaurant meals, it offers same-day grocery delivery. If Instacart, or a similar service is available in your friend's area, you can have an order of groceries and toiletries shipped right to his or her door. Affordable meal delivery subscriptions like Dinnerly and Blue Apron ship pre-portioned ingredients and easy-to-follow instructions to make homemade meals easier to prepare. You can set preferences to accommodate picky family members or dietary restrictions, type in how many people will be eating each meal, and decide how many recipes you want to include in each delivery.

Here's the big point. Our world is filled with unsolved problems, unmet needs, and untended wounds. We're called to play a part in responding to these challenges. And in many cases, what's holding us back isn't a lack of ability or willingness - but rather the absence of creativity. God is infinitely creative. We are His children. Mercy is the family business!
