

Tim Hammond
Deputy Director of Drug Discovery, CRUK

Tim is Deputy Director of Drug Discovery at CRUK Therapeutic Discovery Laboratories (TDL), an in-house CRUK drug discovery unit with a principal focus on establishing and prosecuting themed multi-project alliances with industry. Tim has strategic responsibility for the design, planning, negotiation and management of multi-site academia-industry alliances. During his 20 years at ICRF and CRUK Tim has been central to establishing and managing the small molecule drug discovery capabilities, including building and running HTS, compound management, compound profiling and protein production. Tim joined CRUK after 5 years postdoctoral enzymology research at the University of Leicester. He has a degree in Pharmacy and a PhD in pharmaceutical chemistry and microbiology from the University of Nottingham.