EMERGENCY CARE FOR FLORIDA PAC | PHYSICIANS FOR EMERGENCY CARE PAC

Protecting Emergency Physicians. Strengthening Patient Care.

Florida's emergency physicians are on the front lines every day — and we need a strong voice in Tallahassee to protect our ability to provide lifesaving care. Through strategic advocacy, FCEP is fighting for policies that directly impact you, your practice, and your patients.

When policy fails, patients pay the price.

Every day, emergency physicians provide care without exception. But bad policy threatens reimbursement, physician safety, and access to care across Florida.

The Florida College of Emergency Physicians (FCEP) is leading the fight but we can't do it without you.

What's At Stake

A Broken IDR System

Insurers are bypassing Florida's Independent Dispute Resolution process—and getting away with it.

- "Opt-out" tactics are avoiding accountability
- Fair dispute resolution is being dismantled
- Physicians are left with inconsistent, often unfavorable outcomes

This is one of the most urgent threats to physician sustainability and emergency medicine in Florida.

Fair Reimbursement for Emergency Care

Emergency physicians are required under federal law to treat every patient—regardless of ability to pay. But getting paid for that care is becoming increasingly uncertain.

- Payments are delayed or denied
- Reimbursement is reduced through payer tactics
- Administrative burden continues to increase

Without fair reimbursement, access to emergency care is at risk

Public Records Exemption for Emergency Physicians

Emergency physicians are increasingly targets of harassment, threats, and doxxing. FCEP is advancing legislation to:

- Protect personal identifying information of physicians
- Safeguard physician families
- Strengthen workforce stability and retention

Protecting physicians means protecting access to care.

Why It Matters

Without strong advocacy, decisions about emergency medicine will be made without us. These issues affect your ability to practice, your financial stability, and the future of emergency care in Florida.

YOUR CONTRIBUTION = REAL IMPACT

PAC support allows FCEP to:

- Fight for policy change at the state level
- Protect patients
- Hold insurers accountable
- Support candidates who understand emergency medicine
- Protect the future of our profession

Recent Advocacy Victory

PEDReady Bill Advancement: FCEP successfully advocated for legislation supporting pediatric emergency readiness across Florida emergency departments – helping ensure children receive high-quality, appropriately equipped emergency care when seconds matter most.

Support the Fight – Invest in Advocacy

The FCEP PAC (Political Action Committee) is critical to advancing our legislative priorities.

Your contribution helps us protect:

- The future of emergency medicine
- Fair reimbursement for your work
- Physicians and their families

This is the moment to step up.
