

From the Executive Director's Desk:

MFPT 2019 will arrive in just under three months' time and preparations are in full swing. Co-located with the Vibration Institute's Eastern Regional Conference bring two full days of an additional content track. Collaborations with the Hydraulic Institute and the Texas A&M Turbomachinery Laboratory bring per-conference tutorials, never before offered to the public on the East Coast!

The agenda is packed with presentations ranging in topics from Artificial Intelligence, Signal Processing, Bearing Diagnostics, to a special session on Lube Oil ending with a panel discussion. The Exhibit Hall is almost entirely booked with only a few spaces remaining for vendors to display their cutting-edge technology and services.

Make sure you register before 22 April to take advantage of our early-bird fees and reserve your hotel room at the Crowne Plaza King of Prussia using code SMF for special room rates.

On behalf of the MFPT Board of Directors, the MFPT 2019 Technical Committee, our Exhibitors, Sponsors, and Presenters, we look forward to welcoming you to Philadelphia in May 2019!

Respectfully,

Amy Wynn

MFPT Executive Director
