

Parent and Adolescent Decision Making About Covid-19 Vaccination

Researchers from the University of California, Irvine are recruiting parents and their adolescent child for a research study about the COVID-19 vaccine.

Eligibility: Parents of middle and/or high school students age 11-18 years old, who speak English or Spanish, and live in Orange County. Adolescents of eligible parents can participate.

What's involved: One-time 20 minute online survey and an online conversation with others lasting about 90 minutes. Eligible households will receive a $50 gift card as compensation.
