

Climate and Health Learning Community In-Person Networking Event: Sign-Up Form

The National Indian Health Board (NIHB) is excited to announce a special event taking place at the National Tribal Public Health Summit in Albuquerque, NM. This event is hosted as part of NIHB's Climate and Health Learning Community. The event is open to everyone, but registrants will be added to the community to stay updated on future events and activities. The learning community is part of NIHB's Climate Ready Tribes project, funded by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). This event is sponsored by the Sierra Club: Rio Grande Chapter! Thanks to their sponsorship, this event will include refreshments.

This purpose of this event is to bring together learning community members for an informal meeting to foster peer learning, information sharing, and relationship building. Set up as speed networking, this event will pair you repeatedly with different individuals for a brief introduction and discussion. NIHB will provide some sample questions for you to discuss. You may be interested in this event if you are you are working on climate or environmental health in a Tribal community, at a Tribal organization, or with Tribal partners; are interested in climate change or how environmental harms are affecting your Tribe; have attended any of the Climate and Health Learning Community Events (or would you like to); or want to meet others who have similar interests or are working on similar activities.

To sign up, please complete this form and return to aaljanabi@nihb.org. Space is limited, so please wait for confirmation that you were accepted. Please be sure the form is fully completed.
