

High School Highlights

A Note from Mrs. Rhodes

Happy Friday!

I want to thank each of you for your encouragement and prayers as I have navigated my return to school following my brain injury this summer. I am thankful to be back at school full time. Please know my biggest challenge right now is hearing. I have lost complete hearing in my right ear and a significant portion of my hearing in my left ear. I am sharing this in case you see me at a game or event and you say something and I don't respond. Please get my attention - I would love to speak with you! Thank you for praying - I appreciate it.
