

At a time when news organizations and government officials twist facts to support their agendas, when CEOs put profits above all else, and influencers seem the authority on most topics, what can we learn from our Judaism in spotting those that are worthy of the mantle of leadership?

We'll begin with two pre-sessions offering diverse learning opportunities

Rabbi David Baum: What Does the Torah Say? A Text Study on Judaism and Leadership

Keith D'vorchik: A Conversation on Leadership Across Industries

Then, we'll come together for a panel style Q&A session with Keith D'vorchik and Rabbi David Baum.

Keith Dvorchik is currently a Partner at Amplify Partners, providing consulting services in Development, Organizational Development, and Family Philanthropy. Prior to this, Keith held leadership positions at The Jewish Federation of Greater Orlando, The Roth Family Jewish Community Center of Greater Orlando, and Shalom Orlando. Keith has also held positions of leadership with the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle and the Gainesville Hillel. With a background in Accounting and Counseling, Keith has a wealth of experience in the nonprofit sector, making a difference in the world of philanthropy.

The evening will include a break with heavy hors d'oeuvres.

Join us for an evening of learning and connection — so we can be the leaders we wish to see.
