

SPRING 2024: INTRODUCTION TO THE NEW TESTAMENT

MADISON
LEARNING
COMMUNITY

DETAILS

This course meets in-person weekly on Tuesdays (6-7:40pm) in Madison, 1/23-4/16, with a morning retreat on 1/27. Optional dinners at 5:30pm.

The class provides an introduction to the content, historical background, canon, and theological and critical issues of the New Testament.

COST

For enrichment: $390

For graduate credit: $1935

First for-credit class: $968

FACULTY

NICHOLAS A. ELDER

Associate Professor of New Testament
University of Dubuque Theological Seminary
PhD, New Testament, Marquette University
MA, Biblical Interpretation, Iliff School of Theology
Author, Gospel Media: Reading, Writing and Circulating Jesus Traditions

ÚNA LUCEY-LEE

Master of Divinity, Fuller Theological Seminary
Associate Pastor, Fountain of Life Covenant Church

MADISON LEARNING COMMUNITY

Madison Learning Community is an initiative of University of Dubuque Theological Seminary offering seminary-level courses to Madison-area Christians eager to deepen ministry skills and join a diverse community committed to the local Church.

Also offered spring 2024:

EMBRACING GOD

This course supports development of Christian spiritual habits for deepening intimacy with God. In addition to regular at home and online exercises, Madison students are invited to weekly dinners and will gather for two day-retreats with Rev. Dr. Susan Forshey, Associate Professor of Christian Discipleship at University of Dubuque Theological Seminary. Cost: $323