

IAEA Summer Newsletter_2025

Shape the Future of Creative Aging in Idaho

Dear Idaho Artists and Teachers,

Arts Idaho (Idaho Commission on the Arts) needs your help in developing a Creative Aging Directory. We are looking for feedback from artists and teachers interested in leading older adults through creative processes. Take the survey here!

Are you interested in being a Teaching Artist on the directory? We invite you to join the Creative Aging Foundations training—an essential first step to being included on the roster.

Developed by Lifetime Arts, this training equips teaching artists with the tools to design and deliver high-quality, inclusive, and engaging arts learning experiences for older adults. The training includes three 2-hour, live virtual sessions spread over three weeks. To be considered for the roster, you must attend all three sessions. If you are interested, complete the survey and you will be sent a redemption code that will allow you to register for FREE.

Choose one of the following training cohorts:

August Tuesdays, 1–3pm MT: August 5, 12, 19

Registration Deadline: July 22

September Tuesdays, 1–3pm MT: September 9, 16, 30

Registration Deadline: August 26

October Tuesdays, 5–7pm MT: October 14, 21, 28

Registration Deadline: September 15

Artists from all crafts and disciplines are welcome! No formal teaching experience required. If you're passionate about the power of creativity to connect and uplift, this opportunity is for you.

Questions? Email rebecca.martin@arts.idaho.gov