The Law Office of Sarah N. Swatosh

Sarah is the founding and managing member of The Law Office of Sarah N. Swatosh. Her practice areas include complex litigation and jury trials; discrimination and harassment; and appellate practice. Ms. Swatosh is a trial attorney with experience representing clients in complex matters against Fortune 500 companies. Her experience also includes successful defense and prosecution of actions under the ADA, ADEA, FMLA and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act.

Prior to opening her own law office, Ms. Swatosh worked for two of the largest management-side employment law firms in the U.S. While representing the employers, she developed and implemented litigation avoidance procedures, including standardized review processes, documentation protocols, and decision-making flow-charts. Ms. Swatosh also regularly provided counseling related to employee discipline and discharge, employee complaint resolution, as well as creating customized training for clients, often focusing on race and gender discrimination and harassment.

She has been named a Rising Star by Missouri Super Lawyers. Ms. Swatosh has previously lectured for The Missouri Bar, National Business Institute, and the Human Resource Management Association.

She earned her B.A. degree, magna cum laude, from the University of Central Missouri, and her J.D. degree, magna cum laude, from Syracuse University College of Law.
