My campaign for Governor's Council is about balance. It is an advisory role to the governor regarding judges and judicial matters. Our judges should not be partisan or guided by strict allegiance to party ideology, but rather guided by the application of common sense and fairness.

Only then can we have justice and balance.

Payouts to a workman's comp claim should not be the equivalent to winning the lottery. Giving a person what they deserve does not mean causing financial harm to the business involved. Divorce cases should be about what is best for the child/ children rather than what's "best" for either parent. Violent unrepentant hardened criminals should not be let out of prison but truly repentant people should not have their lives destroyed over smaller crimes due to "zero tolerance" policies.

Without fairness and balance there cannot be justice. All eight governor's council districts are represented by one party, and as such, the governor only hears one side of any issue. That is not balance. As an independent candidate with 35 years experience in the insurance industry, I believe it is time to bring other viewpoints to the council so the governor can make better, more informed, and more balanced decisions.

As we move forward with the campaign many issues will be discussed. I want to earn your support - and vote - so we can make Massachusetts a better place to live, with justice for all.
