A Proud Heritage:

The African American Presence and Contribution in the Sourland Mountain Region and Surrounding Area

Authors Elaine Buck and Beverly Mills are known for their pioneering work in unveiling unknown stories about slavery in New Jersey and its long ignored African American narrative.

Based on more than a decade of research, Mills and Buck wrote, 'If These Stones Could Talk' which is largely based on the African American presence and contribution in the Sourland Mountain Region and surrounding area.
