

Northern New Mexico Community Data Sprint

Summer 2025

Sponsored by LANL's Information Science & Technology Institute and Community Partnerships Office, this week-long event will pair local nonprofit and social good organizations with a small team of LANL data scientists to solve data-related problems to benefit Northern New Mexico. Interested local nonprofit and social good organizations should have their own data, a related question or problem they would like to answer or solve, and at least one representative willing to participate in some planning activities as well as participating during the week of the data sprint. There is no charge for the organization to participate in the project.

Interested applicants should attend an information session and apply no later than March 7, 2025. For more information, contact datasprint@lanl.gov.
