WORKSHOPS & EDUCATIONAL PRESENTATIONS

Southern Maine Agency on Aging presents:

- Living Well with Chronic Pain, a weekly workshop on Wednesdays, 10 am—12:30 pm, May 30th—July 11th, no class on July 4th. Call or email for more information or to register: 207-396-6578 or sadams@smaaaa.org

The UU Church of Brunswick is hosting Ysaye Barnwell as she leads Building a Vocal Community Workshop: Singing in the African American Tradition on Saturday, June 16, from 10 am—4 pm. Ysaye Barnwell will envelop you in the joy of community through the music of the African-American vocal tradition, including calls and chants, spirituals, ring shouts, hymns, gospels, songs of the Civil Rights Movement, and songs of contemporary struggle. She will also introduce you to the values embedded in the music, the role of cultural and spiritual traditions and rituals, ways in which leadership emerges and can be shared, and the nature of cultural response to political struggle. Registration costs: $50/single, $75/couple, $100/family. Registration deadline: June 8. Register at: <https://vsaveworkshop.brownpapertickets.com/>

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

CALLING ALL DRIVERS: Five years ago, YCAN (Yarmouth Cares About Neighbors) launched a program to provide transportation to those who no longer could drive but still needed a lift to get to a doctor's appointment, supermarket, hairdresser appointments, among other places. YCAN's Rides Program has grown dramatically each year, and now needs more drivers. We offer rides Monday—Friday and when and how often you drive is up to you! If interested, Jean Rafford, who has overseen the program for years, can fill you in. Phone: 329-7295 or email: jeanrafford@gmail.com.
