Research Scholar Day Abstract Guidelines

Thank you for your interest in presenting at Research Scholar Day! We look forward to Research Scholar Day as an opportunity to share and celebrate scholarly work being done at Lurie Children's Hospital and the Stanley Manne Research Institute.

This year, Research Scholar Day will be held on Wednesday, May 11, 2022, from 10:00-1:00 pm.

We are returning to in person!

Below you will find information on how to submit your abstract for your research poster.

Here are details about the event:

The day will start at 10:00am with opening remarks by Dr. Matthew Davis, Dr. Patrick Seed, and Dr. Jennifer Trainor. Presenters will be separated into A and B sessions for presenting their posters – this allows you to be able to walk around and view other posters when you are not presenting. You will be assigned a faculty reviewer(s) to review your research and speak with you briefly during your assigned session. You may invite mentors, program directors, etc. to attend.

Abstracts are due by Friday, April 15, 2022.

Your poster should be printed to be displayed on May 11. The poster itself does not need to be submitted prior to Research Scholar Day.

Agenda for RSD, Wednesday, May 11, 2022:

10-10:15 am Opening Remarks – Drs. Davis, Seed, and Trainor, Simpson Querrey – more details to follow

10:15-11:45 am RSD Research Presentations, Simpson Querrey – more details to follow

12-1 pm Keynote Speaker – TBD, Simpson Querrey – more details to follow

Abstract Guidelines:

Your abstract should be no more than one typed page in an 11-point Times New Roman font. One abstract per person.

For clinical fellows in 3-year programs, we anticipate that in your first year you will share what you are planning for your academic product. In your second year, you will show what you are doing. In the third year, you will show what you have accomplished.

If you have submitted an abstract to another meeting recently based on your work at Lurie, you may submit that abstract for Research Scholar Day.

If you have not submitted an abstract previously and are still in the planning process of your work, please follow this outline:

- TITLE: What is the essence of your study?
- AUTHORS: You, your mentor, any others.
- BACKGROUND: What is known in the area, and what would you like to learn?
- HYPOTHESIS: What do you anticipate as your outcome?
- METHODS: What will you use as your major approaches?
- RESULTS: What are your anticipated or actual results and problems?
- CONCLUSION: What have you learned?

Abstracts are due on Friday, April 15, 2022, by 11:59 pm. After receiving the abstracts, they will be assigned to a faculty reviewer(s) and compiled for distribution. Late submissions will not be accepted.

Posters: You must check a size for your poster on the Google Form below so the room can be set up accordingly. For those printing posters for the event, we recommend 3' x 4' size. If you have already printed a poster for another meeting, we will accommodate that size.

Answer the prompted questions and upload your abstract no later than April 15th, by 11:59 pm to this Google Form link:
