

Greetings, NMI Partners and Prayer Warriors,

At the first of the month we shared a prayer request for Carlos Radi. He and his wife, Robin, serve as missionaries in Argentina.

I am so thankful to be a part of a district, region, or organization, "Missions International," that believes in prayer, loving one another, and that our God can do all things!

Thank you for lifting this family in prayer and loving on them with your beautiful cards and words of encouragement.

We ask that you continue to pray for them and feel free to continue to send your love. Here is the latest update (9-29-27) from Robin:

Please thank everyone for the wonderful cards! ❤️

 Greetings, dear friends— Today, after a beautiful trip to Argentina, Carlos went in for his seventh chemotherapy session. His lab results were excellent, with liver enzyme levels better than ever. His white blood cell count is a bit low, but that is normal given the travel and the chemo. Today, a blood sample was taken for a fairly new, specialized test that evaluates cancer cells in the bloodstream. This is a preventive measure; if Carlos moves into a maintenance phase of chemotherapy, doctors will use this number to monitor for cancer recurrence—as blood tests can detect this before a scan does. Essentially, this test establishes a baseline so that, should he switch to a less aggressive treatment regimen, any resurgence can be controlled. It might be a bit complex to grasp, but it speaks to the doctor looking at a potential improvement in his condition. The oncologist was very positive, noting that Carlos is doing great and should keep doing whatever it is he's been doing. Today he smiled more than usual. 😊 We believe God is healing Carlos—Jehovah Rapha... Yeshua the Healer. Thank you for the encouragement, cards and letters, and loving care. We especially feel blessed by your prayers. God is mighty in battle... and the battle belongs to Him! Please pray for our family in Italy. 🇮🇹 A beloved uncle passed away today.

Until the next update 🙏

(Sept 2, 2027) Update from Robin:

Thank you for your prayers on his behalf! We are blessed beyond measure. God's peace has been overwhelming in this time. I just want to update you that Carlos' scans show the cancer has stopped growing, and although the lesions have not diminished, his liver enzymes and tumor markers in his blood have gone down significantly. We rejoice because he is still asymptomatic and feels good. We know the diagnosis is bleak, but we are praying for healing, and your prayers mean so much! Thank you, thank you, thank you!!!!

(Original Post on Facebook) GEORGIA PRAYER WARRIORS, please pray fervently for Carlos and Robin Radi, Nazarene Missionaries in Argentina. Carlos began his sabbatical about six weeks ago, and he has been diagnosed with stage 4 colon cancer. He has had 5 rounds of chemo, and thus far there is no change in his condition. We know that our healing God can turn this around.

You may remember Carlos and Robin were our speakers at the 2025 NMI Convention.

James 5:16b NIV "The prayer of a righteous person is powerful and effective."
