Creating Trauma-Informed Homes & Virtual Classrooms in Challenging Times

Tuesday, April 7, 2020—6:30 pm
Available via LiveStream on the DuPage ROE YouTube channel

Click here

The DuPage Regional Office of Education and Dr. Melissa Sadin invite the public to join them for a live-streamed event as they share the impact social distancing and social isolation is having on students, parents, and teachers.

Dr. Sadin will explain how our current climate is affecting those who may have already experienced some form of trauma—and how it could be impacting those who haven't.

Specific strategies for creating trauma-informed homes and virtual classrooms will be presented, giving participants practical plans and hope for the future!

A Must-See Learning Opportunity for Parents and Educators During the Pandemic Crisis

Dr. Sadin, Ed.D, is the Executive Director of Ducks & Lions: Trauma Sensitive Resources; the Program Director at Creating Trauma Sensitive Schools for The Attachment & Trauma Network; and the Special Education Director at Unity Charter School. Her Trauma Guide Series of books are available on her website, www.traumasensitive.com.