Substance Use Disorder Workforce Development Program

STIPENDS & TUITION SUPPORT AVAILABLE

Approximately 50 students enrolled in Waynesburg University's Workforce Development Program may receive up to $6,400 per semester to support their graduate education as they earn their Master of Arts in Counseling through the University's addiction counseling program.

MAKE AN IMPACT. ADVANCE YOUR CAREER. SERVE YOUR COMMUNITY.

Waynesburg University is committed to expanding access to graduate education and strengthening the behavioral health workforce. Individuals from underrepresented, underserved and diverse backgrounds are strongly encouraged to apply.

PROGRAM PURPOSE

This program addresses critical workforce shortages in substance use disorder (SUD) counseling. Through collaboration with the Pennsylvania Department of Drug and Alcohol Programs (DDAP), this program:

- Reduces financial barriers to graduate education
- Prepares skilled, compassionate SUD counselors
- Expands access to care in high-need and medically underserved communities

WHY APPLY?

- Significant financial support to reduce graduate education costs
- Online program designed for working professionals
- Direct pathway into a high-demand, meaningful career
- Opportunity to serve and uplift communities most impacted by substance use disorders
