

FEATURE

Contributing photographers

Gelane Clements

Julie Lawrence

Jessica Pellington

Missy Poinsett

Candid canids

American Red wolf.

WOLVES ARE INCREDIBLY MAJESTIC beings, and each day, we find ourselves in awe of their stoic beauty and quiet resilience.

But just like humans, each animal at our sanctuary has a unique personality and we aim to provide them all with a home where they are free to express themselves and be appreciated for who they are. Every now and then, we manage to capture a special moment or two of unprovoked expression on camera, where the wolves are simply living their lives. They might not always be considered the most... photogenic images, but they clearly show that our residents are comfortable and thriving in their surroundings. From yawns, naps, and stretches; to sideways glances, stick grabs, and tongue “bleps” – we hope these candid canid moments from the past and the present bring you joy in the new year!

McCleery wolf.

Mexican wolves.

Caedus.

M2214 (Cedar) & F1945 (Nash).

Shasta.

Thing One.