

July 19 – Speakers' Night!
Panel Discussion on issues facing the Transgender Community
7:00 p.m. on Zoom
Join us as we welcome
Rev. Phiwa Langeni and Jaden List

Hear what terminology is used by trans people to identify themselves, the use and misuse of Scripture to describe trans people and issues facing the trans community today.

Rev. Phiwa Langeni
They/them/their

A queer, Black, trans person from an immigrant family, the Rev. Phiwa Langeni has served in just about every local church setting possible: a thriving progressive church, multi-charge rural churches, a large suburban church, small churches deeply rooted in political and social justice, and a new church start/nonprofit hybrid. They currently serve as the Ambassador for Innovation and Engagement in the United Church of Christ's Center for Analytics, Research & Development, and Data. Phiwa is also the owner of a few small creative businesses and they also solo parent an adult daughter who challenges them in brilliance and beauty. In their free time, Phiwa enjoys reading, upcycling, 90s R&B, dad jokes, and creating all manner of things.

Jaden is a Care Manager with Meridian Health Care. They are an experienced Wellness Consultant with a demonstrated history of working in the higher education industry. Jaden is a strong community and social services professional with a Master of Social Science Administration; MSW equivalent focused in Community Organization and Advocacy from the Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences at CWRU and has worked at the CWRU LGBT Center.
