

Eric Deeble

Eric is the Policy Director of the National Sustainable Agriculture Coalition who, prior to joining NSAC, worked in the US Senate on farm and food policy with the office of Senator Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY). His commitment to sustainable, equitable, and just food systems comes from his work as a large animal veterinarian (University of Pennsylvania, 2013) with farmers, ranchers, dairy producers and the people who make sure the food they produce is safe, affordable, and available to everyone in their own community. Prior to his veterinary career, he worked in the not-for-profit sector ensuring safe housing conditions for elderly and disabled persons.
