

THE HOLOCAUST - A GLOBAL HISTORY?

APPROACHES, PROSPECTS, AND OBJECTIONS

November 18, 2026
6:00 P.M.

Milo Bail Student Center, Gallery Room 308
University of Nebraska at Omaha

This talk will examine emerging efforts to understand the Holocaust within a global-history framework. The lecture will explore both the opportunities and challenges of writing a global history of the Holocaust, engaging with influential scholarship that highlights the worldwide dimensions of Nazi ideology, policy, and genocide. Drawing on such examples as North Africa under German and Italian occupation and Southeast Asia following the Japanese invasions of 1941-42, Dr. Thomas Pegelow-Kaplan will demonstrate how global historical approaches can deepen our understanding of the Holocaust beyond Europe.

The event is free and open to the public.
Food and beverages will be served.
There will be limited free parking in Lot E on the UNO campus near the Bell Tower.

Dr. Thomas
Pegelow-Kaplan

Dr. Pegelow-Kaplan is the Louis P. Singer Endowed Chair in Jewish History and a Full Professor of History at the University of Colorado Boulder. He also serves as a permanent research fellow at the Center for Research on Antisemitism at the Technical University of Berlin, Germany. His research focuses on histories of violence, language, and culture of Nazi Germany and Nazi-controlled Europe, transnational and global history, and the 1960s global youth revolts. He is the author of two books and numerous chapters and articles, and editor of five volumes on various topics in Holocaust Studies.