Memorials Hallowing Their Memory

If you wish to have the memory of your loved one permanently enshrined within our Sanctuary, you may inquire about a bronze Memorial Plaque at the synagogue office.

For information regarding memorial gifts, please contact Andy Kirschner at akirschner@kamii.org or 773.219.0228.

The death of a loved one leaves us in a world of darkness. We feel unsure of what to do, where to turn. In the darkness, questions abound – the timeless theological questions of our people, and the urgent questions of the moment: “What do I do now?” “How do I make arrangements?” “How can my tradition guide me at this time?” As the practical dilemmas become resolved, we return to the questions of the heart: “How could this happen?” “What does Judaism teach me about death, about the afterlife, about immortality?” “How will I cope?” At no other time in our lives do we so need each other, our congregation, our community, and our faith. Yet, in all of our struggles we are blessed – Judaism’s practice and promise hold out a beacon of hope to guide us along our journey.

This Memorial Book is part of KAM Isaiah Israel’s ongoing commitment to perpetuate the memory of our loved ones. We offer it to you today in the hope and with the prayer that it will be of comfort to you during this service of yizkor and beyond.

Please note the resources in the back of the book that are designed to serve you and help you. While these resources are an important part of our outreach during your time of grief, it is only one part. It is not a substitute for our concern for you. We are here for you, so feel free to call upon us, to visit with us, to ask questions. We pray we can be of help.

Two of Judaism’s greatest mitzvot are to remember the blessed memories of our loved ones and to comfort the broken hearted. In fulfillment of these mitzvot, we offer this Memorial Book to you.

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "R. Reeves", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

The following reading is appropriate to be recited at Yahrzeit observances, the unveiling, graveside visits, or any time where you wish to honor the memory of a lost loved one:

To this sacred place I come, drawn by the eternal ties that bind my soul to yours. Death has separated us. You are no longer at my side to share the beauty of the passing moment. I cannot look to you to lighten my burdens, to lend me your strength, your counsel, your faith.

And yet, what you mean to me neither withers nor fades. For a time, we touched hands and hearts; still your voice abides within me, still your tender glance remains a joy to me.

For you are part of me forever; something of you has become a deathless song upon my lips. And so beyond the ache that tells how much I miss you, a deeper thought compels: we were together. I hold you still in my mind and give thanks for life and love. The happiness that was, the memories that do not fade, are a gift that cannot be lost. You continue to bless my days and years. I will always give thanks for you.

WHEN SHOULD THE UNVEILING BE HELD?

The setting of a stone over the grave may be done at any time between the end of Sheloshim and the first anniversary of the death. A service of dedication, or unveiling, customarily takes place approximately eleven months after the death.

The unveiling is not a second funeral ceremony, but rather a vehicle for reaffirming respect for the memory of the deceased and a reminder that life goes on for the mourners.

HOW IS A YAHRZEIT COMMEMORATED?

Yahrzeit is a Yiddish/German word meaning the anniversary of death.

It is not a day for intense mourning but for remembrance. It may be calculated by either the Hebrew or civil calendars.

Yahrzeit begins on the evening preceding the date of death and consists of lighting a 24-hour memorial candle and reciting prayers El Malei Rachamim and Kaddish. One usually refrains from social activities through this day. It is customary to recite Kaddish at the Shabbat services during the week in which Yahrzeit occurs.

The following is a good template to use for a Yahrzeit, when the family is gathered at dusk on the evening before the anniversary of the death.

A group says:

At this moment, in memory of our beloved _____, we join hands in love and remembrance. A link has been broken in the chain that has bound us together, yet strong bonds of home and love hold us each to the other.

We give thanks for the blessing of life, of companionship, and of memory. We are grateful for the strength and faith that sustained us in the hour of our bereavement. Though sorrow lingers, we have learned that our love is stronger than death. Though our loved one is beyond our sight, we do not despair, for we sense our beloved in our hearts as a living presence.

An individual says:

At this moment, I pause for thought in memory of my beloved _____. I give thanks for the blessing of life, of companionship, and of memory. I am grateful for the strength and faith that sustained me in the hour of my bereavement. Though sorrow lingers, I have learned that love is stronger than death. Though my loved one is beyond sight, I do not despair, for I sense my beloved in my heart as a living presence.

Group or Individual Concludes:

Sustained by words of faith, comforted by precious memories, we (I) kindle the Yahrzeit light in remembrance. As this light burns pure and clear, so may the blessed memory of the goodness of our (my) dear _____ illumine our souls (my soul).

SAYING YIZKOR

The custom may date back to the period of the Maccabees, when Judah and his men prayed for the souls of their fallen companions and brought offerings to the Temple in Jerusalem in order to atone for the sins of the dead.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW:

1. The Yizkor prayer is recited the morning of Simchat Torah, the last day of Passover, Shavuot, and Yom Kippur.
2. As with Yahrzeit, it is customary to light a twenty-four hour candle on the evening preceding Yizkor. No special prayer is required. Consult your own siddur for suggested readings. Alternatively, you may want to simply speak from the heart with a prayer to God. Mourners also often make a tzedakah contribution or pledge some act of gemilut chasadim to honor the memory of their loved ones.
3. While it is common practice not to recite Yizkor on the holiday following a death, one may do so.

If you have any questions regarding the Yizkor service, Yahrzeit commemoration, or unveiling, please consult one of our clergy.

One of the tragedies in our society today is that many bereaved family members and friends often experience their grief alone. Many people feel, "There must be something wrong with me; certainly no one I know of has ever felt or behaved in these strange ways." It is important for you to realize that what you are experiencing is normal, natural, and expected. Whatever you might be feeling, our clergy are on hand to help. Please call for an appointment if you think we can assist you in this time of loss and pain: 773.924.1234.

Strength for Those Who Mourn

Adapted from Samuel S. Cohon

In nature's ebb and flow, God's eternal law abides. You who are our support in the struggles of life are also our hope in death. In Your care are the souls of all the living and the spirits of all flesh. Your power gives us strength; Your love comforts us. O Life of our Life, Soul of our Soul, cause Your light to shine into our hearts. Fill us with trust in You, and turn us again to the tasks of life. And may the memory of our loved ones inspire us to continue their work for the coming of Your Kingdom.

A Philosophy of Life and Death

Rabbi Joshua Loth Liebman - The Gates of Prayer

Judaism teaches us to understand death as a part of the Divine pattern of the universe. Actually, we could not have our sensitivity without fragility. Mortality is the tax that we pay for the privilege of love, thought, creative work - the toll on the bridge of being... Just because we are human, we are prisoners of the years. Yet that very prison is the room of discipline in which we, driven by the urgency of time, create.

In Praise of Lives Now Gone

Rabbi Harvey J. Fields

This the profound praise of the living,
Praise for the generous gift of life.

Praise for the presence of loved ones, the bonds of friendship, the link of memory.

Praise for the toil and searching, the dedication and vision, the ennobling aspirations.

Praise for the precious mooring of faith, for courageous souls, for prophets, psalmists, and sages.

Praise for those who walked before us, the sufferers in the valley of shadows, the steadfast in the furnace of hate.

Praise for the God of our people, the Source of all growth and goodness, the Promise on which we build tomorrow.
