Your Update from AgeOptions

February 2019

Connections are the heart of what we do. They include our partner community organizations, our sponsors and supporters, the communities we serve and the national and state organizations that support our work, as well as the participants in our many programs and the older adults and caregivers who are our clients.

We continue to develop and nurture new connections as opportunities arise to enhance AgeOptions services through new partnerships. This year we're making new health care connections through a project with health care partners, funded by a grant from the U.S. Administration for Community Living, to ensure older patients have access to much-needed nutrition resources.

Two more exciting new connections are Memory Cafes (please see the story about them in this newsletter) and the varied programs we're developing with 17 area libraries.

Celebrating Connections is the theme of AgeOptions' 2019 year-round campaign. During this year, we'll share stories about these and other new and existing programs that illustrate how AgeOptions and our network of connections serve older adults and caregivers.
