

RONALD M. SHAPIRO

Ron is a former corporate banker and university professor.

He recently retired from Rutgers Business School as an Assistant Professor of Professional Practice in the Finance & Economics Department. He taught real estate finance, investments, and financial management courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Prior to Rutgers, Ron held various executive commercial real estate lending positions at Wells Fargo Bank, Prudential Financial, Spencer Savings Bank and ConnectOne Bank.

Mr. Shapiro has an MBA degree in finance and accounting from Columbia University's Graduate School of Business and an undergraduate degree in Economics from the State University of New York at Stony Brook. He is a CPA and former Adjunct Professor at Monmouth University's Kislak Real Estate Institute. Ron creates and co-produces real estate conferences and webinars for companies and non-profit organizations with the Mid-Atlantic Real Estate Journal. He also writes and performs comedy at corporate and university events such as conferences and seminars, training workshops, trade shows, corporate retreats, and sales meetings.

He is a frequent speaker and moderator at various real estate industry conferences and is a Regional Planning Committee Member of the NJ Mortgage Bankers Association.