Family Promise helps homeless and low-income families achieve sustainable independence through a community-based response.

They achieve this using rotating interfaith host sites to provide temporary housing, meals, and support services to parents and their children. Many of these families have fallen on challenging times and, often through no fault of their own, have become homeless. With help from the over 500 volunteers, families are able to sleep safely and have one less worry about how they will feed their children in a healthy way.

At the same time, the Family Promise staff helps those same families with daily guidance and case management. Whether it is connecting parents with community resources for housing or helping them to secure a job, our staff works hard to give our families the help that they deserve to conquer the barriers that would, otherwise, stand in their way.

Contributions to Family Promise allow families to purchase everyday necessities such as gas, personal care items and clothing.
