Winter/Spring 2019: The Prophets (major & minor), Psalms and Books of Wisdom

This course is based on the “Survey of the Old Testament” course I have taught for the past four years at Rappahannock Community College. Our goals will be:

- To develop a basic familiarity with important stories in the Old Testament and examine them in their historical, geographical and cultural contexts.
- To consider the important themes present in the Old Testament and consider their relevance and potential implications for contemporary life and world events in the 21st century.

Each class will include lecture, discussion, handouts and visuals. It is designed to be interactive. Our “textbook” will be the Bible. I also provide short topical outlines which you may find helpful.

Looking Ahead: I plan to offer a similar series on The New Testament in our 2019-2020 program year to include Fall 2019 The New Testament (Gospels) in Fall 2019 and The New Testament (Letters & Revelation) in Winter/Spring 2020.
